- 11 The Society's Veterinary Officers are authorised to refuse permission for any animal or bird to be admitted to, or to have removed from, the Showground any animals affected with contagious or infectious disease, or any deemed not fit to show. Concealment of disease will render the Exhibitor liable to disqualification.

Exhibitors should not bring any diseased or ill animal or bird onto the Show premises, and if under any circumstances this regulation be violated, the exhibitor of the animal or bird will be solely responsible for any claims that may arise for damage or loss to other exhibitors or any other persons, and the Society holds itself free from liability in such cases. Should any animal or bird manifest symptoms of disease or illness during the Show, it must be reported to the Chief Steward of the relevant Section immediately.

The Society has an appointed veterinary surgeon and their role is to deal with requests from judges, stewards and other Society officials and to attend to emergencies that may arise. It is a condition of entry that these veterinary surgeons may on their own authority give to any animal such emergency treatment as they may consider appropriate in the event that the owner or their representative cannot immediately be found. Exhibitors will be required to pay any such veterinary surgeon for the full cost of the treatment administered whether in an emergency as above or if such treatment is requested.
